

Baby Smile
by joshua kaplan 2002

once more for me tonight
once more before i dim the light let the last thing i see tonight be your smile let this feeling last a little while in your smile

baby dream
of lego, an m&ms, balloons and colorful things baby sing in the language of your sister, and the angels it brings let the last thing i hear tonight be your voice every time a child sings, the heavens rejoice in that voice

woo woo... baby smile

make everything dark go away when you smile
you brighten every face you face each an every day let the last thing i see tonight be your face one thing in this world that can't be replaced that face

know it's all that really matters to me
know my love for you is eternal and free and if you wonder how i felt after i'm gone i leave you this reminder, these words and this song when i'm gone
